

2011 Alberta Elk Convention
Live Video Auction
Animals & Semen

March 25, 2011

Alberta Elk Commission's Real People Real Pride campaign is rolling out across the province this week. Watch for it in your local newspaper and the Western Producer .

Real People Real Pride

Alberta Elk Ranchers

Alberta's elk ranchers are proud of their ranches and the products they produce. They are committed to their animals; to understanding their needs and braving the elements to care for them. Alberta Elk ranchers are equally committed to protecting the environment that enables them to provide for their families.

Alberta's elk ranchers are independent people who believe in the same core values all Albertans treasure:

- > They welcome diversity
- > They see challenges as opportunities
- > They are committed to do the right thing for Alberta's future

Mark & Tina Stewart are proud Alberta elk ranchers. They are one of the new young breed of business people in agriculture today, they believe strongly that the way to profitability for them is to find niche markets and then actively market their products on their own terms. Elk fits this description perfectly. This one animal offers them several different products to market from Elk Velvet Antler and Meat to Breeding Stock and Trophy Animals, Elk are the perfect diversified animals to raise. Both Mark and Tina grew up on farms and recognize the great foundation that experience gave them to build their lives on. They are determined to pass that wonderful heritage on to their children. Visit www.elkranchers.ca to watch the video as Mark & Tina explain their passion for Elk Ranching.

Visit our website and learn more about elk ranching and the great products we produce.

Real People Real Pride

Alberta Elk Ranchers

Alberta's elk ranchers are proud of their ranches and the products they produce. They are committed to their animals; to understanding their needs and braving the elements to care for them. Alberta Elk ranchers are equally committed to protecting the environment that enables them to provide for their families.

Alberta's elk ranchers are independent people who believe in the same core values all Albertans treasure:

- > They welcome diversity
- > They see challenges as opportunities
- > They are committed to do the right thing for Alberta's future

Terry & Glenda Elkow are proud Alberta elk ranchers. They believe in the quality products they produce and are focused on developing high end genetics on their farm through consistent selective breeding. They are proud to be producing natural products that enhance the quality of life for people and their pets. Elk is the perfect animal to farm in Alberta, elk thrive in our climate and on Alberta's great grasslands. They believe strongly in the future of Alberta's elk industry and over the years the Elkow's have taken leadership roles both locally and provincially in the Alberta Elk Commission and have shown a tremendous commitment to working towards the development and expansion of the elk industry in Alberta.
